Spa Ceylon Unveils Grand Spa At Old Dutch Hospital

Posted on

Grand Spa at Old Dutch Hospital

Spa Ceylon has unveiled their latest Boutique and Urban Spa at the historic Dutch Hospital Building in Colombo Fort. The Spa, which is spread across two floors offer guests a uniquely indulgent Ceylonese spa experience. A highly skilled 20 member spa team, which includes both local and international therapists, will indulge the guests in luxurious Ayurvedic rituals. The Spa consists of more than 25 Ayurvedic rituals, inspired by Sri Lanka’s rich Ayurvedic heritage and centuries old Royal health and well being practices in the grand palaces of Ceylon.

The 12 guest spa also includes an indulgent spa boutique with a wide range of spa formulae, home aromas, lifestyle products and spa ceylon organic teas and organic herbal infusions.

Guests who check into the Spa are welcomed by the aroma of warm organic essential oils of lemongrass, sweet lime and water grass which will help to begin a sensory journey to sooth, calm and relax the mind, body and soul. Whether checking into the foot spa for a foot ritual or head ritual or checking into a Royal Spa suite for a romantic couple’s body ritual – soothing music reminiscent of peaceful Ceylonese country sides play in the background. With this the guests can sink in to the comfort of luxuriously over sized spa beds and recliners and let the Spa Ceylon’s renowned rituals take away the daily stress and tension.

Every detail of the Grand Spa Ceylon and the rituals included, has been thoughtfully designed and detailed to perfection, so that the guests can receive a totally fulfilling and relaxing spa experience that is uniquely different.

[nggallery id=211]