Jessica Skye (Yoga, Mindful Cooldown)

"We're here to support everyone on their fitness journey. There's no prerequisite with Fitness+, everyone's going to be coming from a different place, and everyone is welcome here."

Sam Sanchez (Strength, Core, Treadmill)

"Users will have a really personal experience with Fitness+. The user's Apple Watch metrics come to life on their screen during pivotal moments in their workout, so they're a really powerful tool for motivation and we love incorporating them into our workout design.”

Betina Gozo (Strength, Core)

“We have Absolute Beginner workouts that are focused on getting everyone moving, even if you have never worked out or are coming back from a long break. Just get your Apple Watch and the device screen that suits you best, and we will help you get started!”

Josh Crosby (Rowing)

“We bring the energy we have as a team to every workout. You will feel it when you use Fitness+: The trainer team has your back, and we want you to be successful on your health and fitness journey.”

Molly Fox (Yoga, Strength)

“I love the diversity of the Fitness+ trainer team. We all come from a wide variety of backgrounds and a range of ages, so it’s my hope that everyone feels seen in the team, and that we inspire them to move with us on their path to getting healthier.”

Jamie-Ray Hartshorne (HIIT, Treadmill)

“Having your Apple Watch metrics on the screen in front of you is a game changer. As a trainer, being able to bring attention to a user’s heart rate during a tough interval, have a timer come to life for a final push, or call attention to their Activity rings in the moment provides amazing motivation from start to finish.”

Sherica Holmon (Cycling)

“With Fitness+, everyone is welcome to the party. That includes you. That is what I love about the trainer team — each one of us cares about inclusivity and ensuring everyone feels invited.”

Tyrell Désean (Cycling)

“Our diverse team weaves in all kinds of music to the workouts to inspire and motivate people to work harder and last longer than they ever thought they could. When you hear the beat drop, you can just feel the energy come off the screen. Music, combined with the metrics from Apple Watch that display on-screen, is a really unique way to help get you through the workout!”
