British Airways CEO and journalists welcomed at The Kingsbury

Posted on

Keith Williams, CEO – BA welcomed with a garland

Resuming flights after a 15 year break, British Airways CEO accompanied by his wife and a crew of journalists from the UK checked into The Kingsbury Hotel in April. Keith Williams, CEO – British Airways, along with his wife and journalists were welcomed at the Hotel by Mohan Pandithage, CEO and Chairman – Hayleys Group, Otto Stohl, CEO – The Kingsbury and senior staff at the hotel.

The journalists who arrived expressed their appreciation of the captivating features of the newly opened hotel. And Keith Williams conveyed his delight in resuming BA flights to Sri Lanka after 15 years.

[nggallery id=586]