The Chamber Music Society of Colombo (CMSC) is thrilled to announce an eagerly awaited benefit recital featuring the world-renowned violinist Midori, alongside the exceptional pianist Özgür Aydın. This outstanding event provides a rare chance to witness the brilliance of one of the foremost musicians while actively supporting the CMSC Education Fund.

Midori, a prodigious talent who has matured into an iconic figure, has consistently mesmerized audiences worldwide with her extraordinary skill and unwavering passion for music. Since her remarkable debut at age 11 with the New York Philharmonic, she has inspired countless generations through her performances and commitment to education and philanthropy. This recital is especially significant, as it showcases Midori's generous support for the CMSC Education Fund, dedicated to nurturing burgeoning musical talent in Sri Lanka.

Joining her, pianist Özgür Aydın brings dynamic playing and insightful interpretations that have garnered widespread acclaim. Together, their collaboration promises an unforgettable musical journey, artfully blending their unique styles and profound understanding of the classical repertoire.

“We are honored to welcome Midori, a luminary in the world of classical music,” stated Lakshman Joseph de Saram of the Chamber Music Society of Colombo. “Her dedication to education and outreach aligns seamlessly with our mission to cultivate musical talent in our community. This recital is not just a chance to appreciate her artistry; it’s an investment in the future of music in Sri Lanka.”

Experience the magic of Midori and Özgür Aydin, and support the next generation of musicians in Sri Lanka.
