

Colombo Courtyard wins Asia Pacific Property Award

Award winning design

After competing with interior designers from the region, Colombo Courtyard has been declared winner of Asia Pacific Property Awards 2013. The award will be presented and the announcement officially made at a dinner to be held at the Shangri-La Hotel in Kuala Lumpur in May.

The Asia Pacific Property Awards are part of the long established International Property Awards. Winners of the award are regarded internationally and they will compete with winning companies from Europe, Africa, the Americas and Arabia, later this year to determine the ultimate World's Best in each category.

According to Stuart Shield, President - the International Property Awards, "the winning companies have outshone their peers and proven exceptional levels of professionalism and competence in their field."
