Elephant Corridor—a journey made for the love of nature

Posted on

The Elephant Corridor, one of Sri Lanka’s boutique resorts is a seductive retreat that captures the essence of nature, history and wildlife.

The hotel lying across 68 acres of forest in the rural heartland of Sri Lanka, is built on a concept that interweaves pure relaxation with eco friendly tourism.

“We sell a concept. We offer total seclusion and satisfaction, a personalised service with individual attention and concern. Our facilities and services have been upgraded to offer nothing but the best to those who visit the hotel. Each structure is designed with total relaxation in mind,” said Thakshila Galappaththy, Head of Business Development – Elephant Corridor Hotel. “Here, you can leave the cares of the real world behind; it is a resort for wildlife enthusiasts,”.

22 chalets open up to scenic views of the nature offer a quick gateway from the hustle and bustle of the busy city. The chalets are spacious and located well away from the public spaces to give ample privacy.

The hotel houses the Om Wellness Spa with an array of treatments. All therapies have been specially designed to embrace the relaxation and tranquillity.