

Galle Face Hotel: a great place to work

Posted on

Wasula Wijegunawardene, Group Director Human Resources – Galle Face Hotel, Amal Nanayakkara, Director Human Resources – GFH, Tony Fleming, COO of Gardiner Group, Carlos S Vizan, Director Operations – GFH and the participants of the programme

Galle Face Hotel together with the assistance of the Great Place to Work® Institute conducted a two day interactive “journey” workshop. With the aim of building a great team and a good place to work, the workshop focused on the quality of the interactions between managers and their teams. Senior Associate Anantadeb Bandyopadhyay, of the institute, conducted the sessions.

The management of Galle Face Hotel conceptualised P.R.I.D.E. as the umbrella branding for all hotel team members’ action and activity. P.R.I.D.E. stands for building “Positive Relationships with Integrity, Dignity and through Engagement”. The hotel recognises that having a great team is the key to delivering good service, and P.R.I.D.E. is an integral part of this.

Galle Face Hotel: a great place to work

Tony Fleming, General Manager – Galle Face Hotel noted, “A team that is engaged in P.R.I.D.E. evokes feelings of excitement with the passion to work hard and build and maintain a foundation of a truly great place to work. This is what we want the Galle Face Hotel to continue to be.”