JAT Holdings recently invited prospective customers to their classy Herman Miller showroom to experience the range of designer products first hand.

The healthful seating options benefit the employer twofold, with reduced employee downtime due to spinal/lumbar discomfort and increased employee productivity. Seating solutions such as the Embody work chair benefits the heart due to its ability to reduce the heart rate, which in turn improves productivity and helps improve the user’s health.

The robust Herman Miller range of work chairs and workstations, led by the iconic Eames Lounge and Ottoman, are underlined by an unmatched three shift 12-year warranty. Three shift means the product could be used 24 hours and still enjoy a 12 year warranty!

Joyce Gunawardene, Director Promotions – JAT is confident that the range of Herman Miller products will benefit the sitter and improve their productivity and health while also benefitting the corporate sector that invests in the products. The age of comfortable, healthy seating has dawned in Sri Lanka and Herman Miller is all set to provide this.
