Mount Lavinia Hotel Unveils Blue Plaques

Posted on

The plaques were unveiled by Louis De Bernieres, British Novelist, H E Mark Gooding, Deputy British High Commissioner in Sri Lanka, Tony Reilly, Country Director of British Council and Bernard Savage, Head of the European Union delegation in Sri Lanka. Sanath Ukwatte, Chairman of the Mount Lavinia Hotel is also in the picture.

Mount Lavinia Hotel unveiled four blue plaques featuring four former British Governors. The plaques are installed in the main entrance of the hotel to symbolise the historical link between the hotel and the former Governors; namely Sir Thomas Maitland, Sir Robert Brownrigg, Sir Edward Paget and Sir Edward Barnes. Acquired by Mount Lavinia Hotel from Britain, the four plaques mark the historical link between the two countries.
