The renovated deluxe rooms

The Pegasus Reef Hotel, Wattala completed the renovation of its deluxe rooms and accompanying public spaces. The hotel’s restaurants, banquet halls and poolside also received an upgrade alongside this project.

The renovation project was completed within a short term with the consultation and keen inspection of field experts.

The project saw over 250 million rupees invested in improvements to the hotel rooms. The makeover was in line with redesign developed to meet the changing needs of today’s smart travellers. Through this project, carpets, lighting, curtains, chairs and artwork in the rooms were all replaced.

The rooms were completely redesigned and refurnished with new bathroom lighting, millwork and valances and 32-inch HD TVs were installed in each room with desktops. The rooms also received ergonomic desk chairs, leather ottomans and closets with built-in refrigerators.

The hotel creates a safe and welcoming environment drawing numbers of business and leisure travellers to Sri Lanka each year. Therefore, comfort is paid utmost attention to.
