Colourful display of Spa Ceylon collection

Spa Ceylon unveiled the Royal Heritage Store and Urban Spa along Chatham Street in Colombo Fort. Situated in a fully-restored almost 200-year old British colonial building, the 6,000 square foot facility is laid out in Spa Ceylon’s style to be the epitome of luxury retail. Shiwantha Dias and Shalin Balasuriya, Founders of Spa Ceylon, hosted patrons, friends and well-wishers at the grand opening of the outlet.

Upon entrance, customers are serenaded by soothing Ceylonese melodies, while rich island aromas waft through the air. The interior is enthralling with majestic ceilings, pillars and walls adorned with the floral palace art indigenous to the island. Customers can browse through the vast range of artistically packaged aromatic merchandise. The Spa Ceylon outlet offers a multisensory, multidimensional brand experience through its gourmet Ceylon tea collection, the Ceylon Elephant Co carousel, wellness wall of island balms, palace art gift gallery, Eau de Ceylon aroma bar, luxury soap buffet, a home aroma selection; as well as the luxuriously laid out Spa.

The vibrant exterior of the Royal Heritage Store and Urban Spa

The spa features two luxury couples' suites, six treatment rooms, an eight-seater foot spa and a four-seater nail spa. The four-seater hair spa offers specialised hair and scalp treatments, blow-dry and make-up services. The Royal Heritage Store and Urban Spa outlet is designed to accommodate up to 25 guests simultaneously and up to 200 guests per day.
