The Kingsbury recently had the privilege of welcoming two of the most celebrated country music artists, Isla Grant and Al Grant.

Isla Grant is a Scottish contemporary country singer whose popularity extends from the United Kingdom and Ireland to New Zealand and Australia. Grant found international success as a Scottish country singer, releasing numerous albums, generally one or more per year. Al Grant, her equally talented husband, is well known for his sensitive lyrics and affectionate duets with his wife.

They were impressed by the beauty and elegance of the hotel and the fine service offered by the staff. The star couple stated that The Kingsbury is indeed iconic of a modern classic, with luxury at its best and undeniably one of the best hotels they have patronised in terms of luxury amenities, personalised service, culinary delights and breathtaking views.
